Meet cleaners Supervisor

Nonoyo Lobelo of e Update caught up with Mmaletsatsi Rebecca Mothibi, Cleaners Supervisor attached to Auxiliary Services under Human Resource Management, to share her views and work responsibilities.

Mmaletsatsi started as a cleaner in the Office of the Premier in October 2014, and due the scarcity of jobs, was very grateful to be appointed at that level.

“I am a very hardworking person by nature, and make sure that I give hundred percent effort and commitment in everything I do and treat every person with respect regardless of his or her position.

I have always shown great humility, ambition and commitment in my work as a cleaner. As a result, I was promoted to the position of supervisor within two years of my appointment.

Mmaletsatsi’s job entails supervision of cleaners, management of junior personnel, compile and submit monthly reports on cleaning services to the Senior Administration Officer.

Responding to the question as to how she motivate her subordinates, Mmaletsatsi said:

“My words of encouragement to others is first and foremost, put your faith and trust in the Lord at all times, even when things at times don’t go according to plan.

“Remember, fear of God is the beginning of wisdom. Always be patient, persistent and never give up on your dreams and ambitions, moreover work hard in order to achieve your goals.”

What motivates Mmaletsatsi is to have passion for her work. “The love for what I do keeps me going, because if you love your job you will certainly excel in it and respect all your colleagues, young and old, because respect and humility goes a long way.”

10 000 steps for Health

Burning calories and kicking away stress

One small step for a man, 10 000 steps for a healthy lifestyle.”

This was the mood at the recent 10 000 steps challenge hosted by the Employee Health and Wellness Directorate in the Office of the Premier.

The event, hosted at the Mmabatho Stadium, saw hundreds of active, vibrant and enthusiastic employees from the Office of the Premier and other departments participating in different sporting activities, not only to put their stamina's to test, but burn some serious calories in the process.

Participants were engaged in aerobics, fun walk and some were playing soccer. It was a day filled with smiles, sweat and much fun as colleagues got to flex their muscles and release some of the tension from the day-to-day operations of their respective offices.

“It was an exciting experience as we are always at work and during weekends we have to spend time with our families, so most of us never get a chance to work out and exercise, which is one of the best ways to stay healthy.

“I realised that some of the exercises could be done at home, and I will surely start flexing my muscles every morning and do some push-ups and sit-ups in the evening before I could go to sleep.

“If one can't find time to go to a gym, then use what you have to create your mini gym, as long as you exercise to stay fit because that's the right thing to do,” said Otukile Mosimanegape, of the Chief Directorate: Communication in the Office of the Premier.

The OoP urges employees to use Spots Wednesdays to engage in different sporting activities.

Wednesdays afternoon have been put aside and dedicated for physical exercises for public servants, encouraging them to stay healthy, stress free and be able to cope with demands of their work.

e - Update caught up with Poloko Motlhabane, Senior Administrative Officer attached to Office of the Premier’s Service Delivery Monitoring and Intervention, to share his views about his new responsibilities.

Nonofo: Briefly tell us about yourself and background.

Poloko: I have been working as a Senior Administrative Officer and sub-district Manager since 2012 to date.

My responsibilities and scope of work entails updating the sub-district database with identified VTSD areas; develop sub-district plans on households and community engagements; update sub-district database on households and community profiles; develop and update sub-district referrals database; develop case studies on sub-district good practices and innovations on resolution of identified needs; assess resolutions facilitated; facilitate interventions on escalated unresolved referrals; develop sub-district database on Service Delivery Agents; update sub-district database of referrals with enquiries registered during Outreach Campaigns; and assess service delivery interventions in the sub-district.

I also compile a list of identified FSDM sites in the sub-district; co-or dinate FSDM site visits in the sub-district; compile and coordinate sub-district public participation programme; and develop the sub-district civic education plan.

Nonofo: What motivates you the most in your work?

Poloko: I get excited when I am involved in something purposeful, pursuit or cause that has lasting impact. I feel am at my peek when my work is aligned with the organization's larger goals.

Thank you Mr Motlhabane, it has been a pleasure communicating with you, enjoy your stay, and all of the best.
